Eastern Economy Edition

ADMINISTRATIVE THEORY

Pardeep Sahni
Etakula Vayunandan

PHI

Administrative Theory

PARDEEP SAHNI
Professor
Faculty of Public Administration
School of Social Sciences
Indira Gandhi National Open University
New Delhi

ETAKULA VAYUNANDAN
Professor
Faculty of Public Administration
School of Social Sciences
Indira Gandhi National Open University
New Delhi

PHI Learning Private Limited
New Delhi-110001
2010

ADMINISTRATIVE THEORY
Pardeep Sahni and Etakula Vayunandan

© 2010 by PHI Learning Private Limited, New Delhi. All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced in any form, by mimeograph or any other means, without permission in writing from the publisher.

ISBN-978-81-203-3082-5

The export rights of this book are vested solely with the publisher.

Published by Asoke K. Ghosh, PHI Learning Private Limited, M-97, Connaught Circus, New Delhi-110001 and Printed by Mohan Makhijani at Rekha Printers Private Limited, New Delhi-110020.

CONTENTS

Preface xiii
Acknowledgements xv

Chapter 1 Public Administration: Meaning and Importance 1–113

Introduction 1
What is Administration? 2
Administration, Organisation and Management 4
Definitions 4
Nature and Scope of Public Administration 12
Nature of Public Administration 13
Scope of Public Administration 14
Significance and Importance of Public Administration 22
Importance of Public Administration as Specialised Subject of Study 22
Importance of Public Administration as Activity 26
Conclusion 32
Public and Private Administration 32
Distinction between Public and Private Administration 33
Similarities between Public Administration and Private Administration 38
Woodrow Wilson's Vision of Public Administration 40
Importance of Administration 41
Study of Public Administration 42
Politics and Administration 44
Public Opinion 45
Civil Service 45
Comparative Method 45
Conclusion 46
Evolution of Discipline 48
Stage I: Politics–Administration Dichotomy (1887–1926) 49
Stage II: Principles of Administration (1927–1937) 51

Stage III: Era of Challenge (1938–1947) 53
Stage IV: Crisis of Identity (1948–1970) 56
Comparative Public Administration 57
Ecological Approach 65
Development Administration 67
New Public Administration 69
Public Choice School 77
Influence of Critical Theory 78
Stage V: Public Policy Perspective 78
Present Status 79
State versus Market Debate 80
Bringing State Back in 83
New Public Management (NPM) 85
Good Governance: Concept and Application 95
Notes 104

Chapter 2 Nature and Typology of Organisation 114–132

Why are Organisations Important 114
Meaning of Organisation 115
Characteristics of Organisation 116
Organisation Theory 117
Formal and Informal Organisation 118
Characteristics of Formal Organisation 119
Characteristics of Informal Organisation 119
Functions of Informal Organisation 119
Relationship between Formal and Informal Organisations 120
Principles of Organisation 120
Henri Fayol 120
James D. Mooney and Alan C. Reiley 122
Luther Gulick and Lyndall Urwick 122
H. Eric Frank 124
Typology of Organisation 124
Typology Based on Goal, Function or Purpose 124
Typology Based on Consumer or Primary Beneficiary 125
Typology Based on Compliance 126
Typology Based on Authority 126
Bases of Organisation—Luther Gullick's Four P's 127
Organisation Based on Purpose or Function 127
Organisation Based on Process 127
Organisation Based on Persons 127
Organisation Based on Place or Territory 127
Closed and Open Models of Organisation 127
Closed Model (CM) of Organisation 127
Open Model (OM) of Organisation 128

Perceptions of Organisational Environment 129
Perception of Nature of Human Beings 129
Perceptions of Use of Manipulation 130
Perceptions of Social Role and Significance of Organisations 130
Notes 131

Chapter 3 Theory of Administration 133–145

Classical Theory of Organisation 133
Taylor's Contribution to Development of Scientific Management 135
Scientific Management 135
Taylor's Works 138
Essence of Taylor's Works 142
Notes 144

Chapter 4 Administrative Management 146–162

Henri Fayol 146
Planning 148
Organisation 148
Command 149
Coordination 149
Control 149
Mooney and Reiley's Model 153
Luther Gulick and Lyndall Urwick 154
Division of Work or Specialisation 156
Bases of Departmental Organisations 157
Criticism 158
Significance of Classical Approach 160
Notes 161

Chapter 5 Structure of Organisation 163–221

Types of Chief Executive 165
Presidential Chief Executive 165
Parliamentary Chief Executive 166
Real Chief Executive 167
Titular Chief Executive 167
Plural Chief Executive 167
Single Chief Executive 167
Collegial Chief Executive 167
Micro Level Chief Executives 168
Cabinet Secretary (Permanent Executive) 168
Divisional Commissioner (Permanent Executive) 169
Deputy Commissioner (Permanent Executive) 170
Sub-Divisional Officer (Civil)/Sub-Divisional Magistrate (Permanent Executive) 170

Chairman of Zila Parishad (Political Executive) 171
Sarpanch of Gram Panchayat (Political Executive) 171
Major Functions of Chief Executive 172
Aides to Chief Executive 174
Line Agencies 174
Staff Agencies 177
Auxiliary Agencies 179
Headquarters–Field Relationship 179
Towards Improving Headquarters–Field Relations 182
Notes 219

Chapter 6 Development Administration 222–248

Administration of Development 223
Development of Administration 225
Meaning of Development Administration 227
Nature of Development Administration 229
Development Administration and Traditional Administration 233
Development Administration: Major Instruments 235
Models of Development Administration 236
Edward W. Weidner's Models 236
Fred W. Riggs' Model 241
Development Administration: Need of Day 246
Notes 247

Chapter 7 Public policy 249–281

Nature and Definition of Public Policy 250
Public Policy—Various Types 251
Substantive 252
Regulatory 252
Distributive 252
Redistributive 253
Capitalisation 253
Ethical 253
Nature of Public Policy 253
Public Policy Stages 254
Objectives of Public Policy 255
Policy Analysis 256
Models for Policy Analysis 260
Policy Formulation 271
Legislature–Executive interaction 271
Legislature–Bureaucracy Interaction 273
Executive and Bureaucracy 273
Policy Decisions 274

Bargaining 275
Competition 275
Command 275
Conflict 276
Cooperation 276
Policy Implementation 278
Legislature 279
Judiciary 279
Interest Groups 279
Notes 280

Chapter 8 Bureaucratic Theory 282–294

Max Weber 282
Authority, Organisation and Legitimacy 282
Weberian Model of Bureaucracy 286
Conclusion 292
Notes 293

Chapter 9 Neo-classical Theory (Human Relations) 295–309

Human Relations Approach—Elton Mayo 295
Meaning and Emergence 295
Reaction to Taylorism 297
Basic Tenets of Human Relations 297
Elton Mayo and his Research Findings 298
Early Experiments 298
Hawthorne Studies 299
Absenteeism in Industries 304
Evaluation of Human Relations Approach 306
Conclusion 307
Notes 308

Chapter 10 Behavioural Theory 310–320

Meaning and Nature of Behavioural Theory 310
Origin and Development 311
Chester Irving Barnard 311
Organisation as Cooperative System 312
Definition of Organisation 313
Contribution–Satisfaction Equilibrium 313
Formal and Informal Organisation 314
New Concept of Authority 316
Communication 316
Executive Functions 317
Notes 320

Chapter 11 Decision-Making Theory (with Reference to Herbert A. Simon) 321–335

Simon's Views on Classical Theory 321
Decision-Making and the Execution of Decisions 322
Choice and Behaviour 323
Stages in the Decision-Making Process 324
Values and Facts in Decision-Making 325
Hierarchy of Decisions 325
Rational Decision-Making 326
Types of Decisions 327
Models of Decision-Making Behaviour (Administrative Man) 328
Decision-Making in the Administrative Process 329
Models of Organisational Influence 330
Criterion of Efficiency 331
Advice and Information 331
Training 331
Simon's Views on Efficiency 332
Simon's Views on Use of Computer in Decision-Making 332
Evaluation of Simon's Ideas on Administration 333
Notes 334

Chapter 12 Participative Management Theory 336–376

Immaturity–Maturity Theory 337
Methods of Integrating Individual and Organisational Goals 338
Progression from Infancy to Maturity and Response to Needs of Mature Individuals 338
Improving Interpersonal Competence 338
Organisational Structures of New System 339
Structure I: Pyramidal Structure 339
Structure II: The Modified Formal Organisational Structure 340
Structure III: Power According to Functional Contribution 340
Structure IV: Power According to Inevitable Organisational Responsibilities 341
Techniques of Programmed Learning 341
Criticism 342
Conclusion 343
Theory X and Theory Y: McGregor 343
Theory X and Theory Y 344
Conclusion 348
Systems of Management: Rensis Likert 348
Supervisory Style 349
Supportive Relationships 350
Linking-pin Concept 351
Management Systems 352

Accounting System 353
Managing Conflicts 354
Criticism 354
Hierarchy of Needs: Abraham Maslow 355
Views of Abraham Maslow 355
Hierarchy of Needs Theory 356
Critical Evaluation 358
Views of Frederick Herzberg 359
Motivation–Hygiene Theory 360
Propositions in Theory 362
Job Enrichment 362
Vertical Job Loading 363
Critical Evaluation 363
Comparison of Herzberg and Maslow Models 364
Conclusion 365
Systems Theory 365
What is System? 366
Relevance for Organisation Theory 366
Characteristics of Open Systems 367
Evolution of Systems Theory 368
Functioning of Organisation under Systems Theory 369
Integrative Processes 370
Contingency Theories or Situational Theories 371
Notes 373

Chapter 13 Hierarchy or Scalar Principle 377–383

Meaning 377
Definitions 378
Functions of Hierarchy 380
Advantages 380
Disadvantages 381
Notes 383

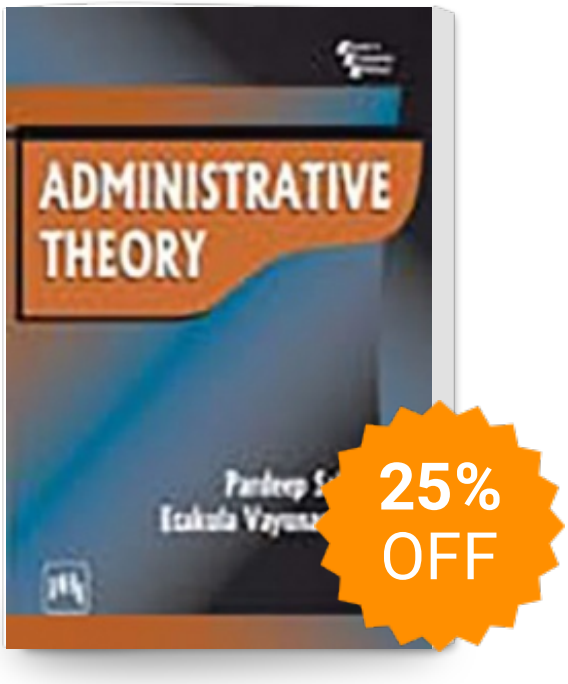
Chapter 14 Span of Control 384–395

Importance and Nature of Span of Control 387
Narrow Span of Control 388
Wide Span of Control 389
Control Levels 389
Span of Control: Major Determinants 391
Notes 394

Chapter 15 Unity of Command 396–403

Understanding Unity of Command 396
Unity of Command and Unity of Direction 398

Administrative Theory



Publisher : PHI Learning

ISBN : 9788120330825

Author : SAHNI, PARDEEP, VAYUNANDAN, ETAKULA

Type the URL : http://www.kopykitab.com/product/7401

Get this eBook