7. What is needed for the prevention of NCDs?
8. What did the Minister of state for AYUSH say?

2. Read the following passage care fully: (12Marks)

1. Haridwar, like other places of Hindu pilgrimage, has become terribly commercialized. Apart from common beggars and ash-smearing sadhus ever eager to receive dakshina, there are innumerable well-dressed men armed with receipt books who accost you for donations for unknown orphanages, gowshalas or for guru-ka-langar. And pandas by the scores reveal your ancestry and perform every kind of ritual on the spot. Prices for participating in the aarti are graded according to the size of your purse. I was familiar with all that, yet some elementary force pulls me towards Haridwar to watch the ritual of sunset worship. Perhaps, because it was here that I immersed the ashes of my grandfather exactly 50 years ago.
2. On the stand of Har ki Paudi, we await the bewitching hour. Clouds gather over the Mansa Devi hill and a few big drops of rainfall. A strong wind picks up; perhaps we will get a hail storm. I don't care; come what may, I am determined to complete my pilgrimage. The sun goes behind the hills, the shades of twilight gather the ghats in their fold. A temple gong

Launching a campaign on non-communicable diseases (NCDs) to generate awareness among the people and an M-Diabetes initiative where people can get information on prevention and management through a missed call, Health Minister JP Nadda said prevention of diseases, whether non-communicable or communicable, will remain at the forefront of his government.

"Yoga and knowledge in AYUSH system of medicine can be of great help in not only preventing but also controlling non-communicable disease. Traditional system of medicines can complement modern medicine."

"Yoga is not only physical activity but also a complete science of living. Yoga as an intervention is being encouraged as an integral part of NCD prevention and management," Mr. Nadda said at a national conference on 'Prevention and Control of Major NCD in India.'

Mr. Nadda also launched the second round of Global Adult Tobacco Survey (GATS-2) for systematically monitoring adult tobacco use and tracking key tobacco control indication.

"Prevention of diseases will always remain in the forefront, whether for communicable or NCD and awareness regarding a balanced life style and healthy living is a crucial pillar in combating NCDs," Mr Nadda said.

Mr. Nadda said as most of major NCDs, generally labelled as 'life style disease', are acquired, there is an urgent need for paying attention to their preventive aspects and social behavior change plays a major role in preventing NCDs.

Minister of State for AYUSH Shripad Yesso Naik said there is a need for a holistic approach for maintaining good health and to integrate traditional medicinal practice and healthy life style for leading a healthy life.

According to the World Health Organization, every year, roughly 5-8 million Indians die from heart and lung diseases, structure, cancer and diabetes.

announces the start of the ritual. Priests come down the steps bearing candelabras of oil-lamps and stand with their feet in the river. They wave their clusters of lamps in a circular motion touching their base to the stream. The chanting begins. Every temple along the ghat resounds with the tinkling of bells and beating of gongs. Conch shells blow and over loudspeakers come the chant Jai Gangey Mata.

3. Scores of leaf boats with candles flickering in them bob up and down the fast moving stream. For 10 long minutes I stand entranced watching the spectacle as if hypnotised by the scene. It is pagan but it is beautiful. I remind myself I am not a Hindu; I am an agnostic. But when people raise the cry Bolo Bolo Ganga Mata Ki, I join them, shouting Jai lustily. My forefathers did it. I do it with renewed gusto. When the bells fell silent and lamps were extinguished, reluctantly we left the ghat.
